

Richard Dixon School of Art Marketing

Do you want to actually sell your art and make a decent living?

I have made a living as an artist for 50 years presenting my paintings to museums, galleries and collectors worldwide starting from 0 financial resources and no art business connections at all. In the process learning by trial and error what works and what does not.

My mistakes have cost me millions balanced off by success that has allowed me to purchase entire art publishing companies, art galleries and operations in 67 countries, do global scale exhibitions/projects and amass a collection of some 90,000 pieces of art worth 50 million.

Am tired of seeing artists starve when they should be thriving and successful with their art.

This school is to design art marketing programs specific to YOUR art. Something that can be implemented starting where you are at. YOUR art is Unique and therefore must be marketed in that manner. There are no cookie cutter solutions, no resume or website will bring you a living.

It starts with a review of your art and discussion of your goals from which a program is constructed. $500.00

The marketing program/design is formed after that.

My website is richarddixonfineart.com

If interested email me at richard@richarddixonfineart.com

